

THE GLANVILLE FRITILLARY METAPOPOPULATION IN THE ÅLAND ISLANDS

Time: 15. - 16.8.2014

Cost: ~ 250-275 € per person (see alternatives below)

We are offering a unique two-day (15.-16.8.) guided trip to explore the Glanville fritillary metapopulation in the Åland Islands after the ICBB 2014 conference held in Turku.

Participants can choose from the two following options depending on whether they want to return back to Turku or to Helsinki (boat arrives to Helsinki on the 17th). Both prices include two-way boat trip, accommodation in Åland, guided tours to see some of the local populations of the butterfly (Friday & Saturday), lunch (Friday & Saturday), and dinner (Friday). Maximum number of participants is 100 and the registration deadline is June 10th2014.

Please choose from one of the options below. The accommodation at the hotel is in a double room (shared) and the cabins on the boat (only for those travelling back to Helsinki) accommodate from 2-4 people (i.e. no single rooms available). Please note the arrival times to Turku or Helsinki before booking your flights!

What to bring: Comfortable walking shoes, water bottle, binoculars, and camera.
